LETTER FROM ROUSSEAU'S BRIGADE. HEADQUARTERS ROUSSEAU'S BRIGADE, ? NEAR ELIZABETHTOWN, Oct. 2.

The bridge over Rolling Fork has been rebuilt, and the cars are now running through to Elizabethtown. The first train since the burning of the bridge passed over the road this morning. As it approached the camp, the men by hundreds crowded the knolls and little hills within the lines and greeted its advent with peels of cheers. As it approached the camp, the men by hundreds crowded the knolls and little hills within the lines and greeted its advent with peels of cheers. It told them that communication was reopened with Louisville, and that henceforth provisions, tents, reinforcements, and, above all, newspapers would be more easily furnished. It is amusing to see the eagerness with which the few stray copies of the Journal which find their way into camp are sought after and devoured. Officers and privates join in the scramble, and those who cannot wates join in the scramble, and those who cannot wates privilege of reading somebody else's after he gets done.

Now that the Rolling Fork Bridge is rebuilt twe may expect the others below us to be speedily repaired. Work has already been begun on the Nolin Bridge. It is rumored that the teams of

BRILLIANT EXPLOIT AT PENSACOLA-BURN-OF THE DRY DOCK-SHIPPING A COLUM-IAD-BURNING A REBEL PRIVATEER .- The State service. rebels at Pensacola were some time ago anxious To the Editors of the Louisville Journal: to use the dry dock for the purpose of blockading the ship channel. How this design was defeated is thus told by a correspondent of the New York

tly after by the heavy boom of three large ns, discharged rapidly one after the other.

The whole camp was quickly aroused, the men, almost the time it takes to narrate this, were n almost the time it takes to narrate this, were inder arms, not knowing what to expect. Shorty flames were seen shooting up from the rebell chooner upon the opposite shore. A few scattering reports of musketry were still heard. These gradually died away until all was silent.

As the flames of the burning vessel shone over he water, three barges, filled with men, were seen making their way steadily through the water toward the entrance of the bay.

Morning broke, and we heard the particulars of his last enterprise. They were narrated to me nis last enterprise. They were narrated to me y Major Vogdes, at the fort, and are as follows: Three barges from the Colorado, containing wenty sailors and sixty-five marines, under ommand of Lieut. Russell, arrived at the fort hortly after dark last night. Capt. Reynolds, of the marines, and one or two midshipmen ac-companied the expedition.

Upon each barge a twelve-pound howitzer was mounted, loaded with grape and shrapnel.

The officers and men disembarked at the fort, and remained on shore until about one o'clock, then again embarked and made their way toward the Navy Yard.

and put off from shore, followed by a shower of musket balls.

Meanwhile the crew of the other boat which had taken the schooner in charge were not quite so successful. On nearing the vessel some twelve or fifteen shots were fired at them, killing two, or fifteen shots were fired at them, killing two, and it is feared mortally wounding three others. They kept on, however, under a galling fire, boarded the schooner, cut down two or three of its crew who failed to make their escape, then collected all the combustible material they could find, and set fire to it in the cabin, after which they cut the schooner loose and let her drift away from her moorings. They then embarked again in the boat, bearing with them one man, killed aboard the vessel, it is said, by mistake, he being taken for one of the rebels and cut down by his friends.

Lieutenant Russell was wounded quite severely in the shoulder; Captain Reynolds was also slightly wounded by a musket ball while retreating. The enemy, several hundred stong, had by this time come together and kept up a rattling volley of musketry upon them. Word was now given to pay them back; the howitzers were brought to bear upon the dark mass congregated resentations from that direction to Gen. Fremont have induced him to send them reinforcements. The force there now is about five thousand men, which, behind their splendid fortifications, we think are equal to anything that may be led against them.

Departure of Secession Prisoners. — A requisition was made by Gen. Mitchel upon Maj. King for the secession prisoners at the Newport (Ky.) Barracks, namely: John Ambler and Martin H. SEIZURE AND ARREST.—The steamer Choctaw, for some time lying at the St. Louis wharf, has been taken possession of by the United States Marshal, and Capt. Silver, her commander, has been arrested on a charge of treason. Capt. D. II. Silver is a citizen of Lexington, Mo., and was well known in the Southern trade, with his steamer, the Choctaw.

THE MARION RIPLES.—At a meeting of this Company, held at their Armory Wednesday, the following officers were elected to serve in the State service: Captain Jno. Hughes; 1st Lieutenant, A. J. Harrington, 2d Lieutenant, James Barbee. The company will go into Camp on Saturday next.

CONTINUED.—W. G. Overton, who is under arrest in this city on the charge of aiding the rebellion, was brought before the United States Court yesterday for examination. But a single witness was examined, when the case was continued by the Government until Saturday.

TROOPS IN TRANSIT.—The Twenty-first and Thirty-eighth regiments Ohio volunteers passed through Covington, Ky., on Wednesday, for the interior of the State. Radway's Ready Relief.

INFORMATION FOR THE WAR DEPARTMENT. Testimony of Field Officers, Company Officers, and entire Regiments in favor of the GREAT PREVENTIVE AND RESTORATIVE.

We propose to offer, in a few brief paragraphs, such proofs of the efficacy of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF as a preventive of and cure for the diseases to which bodies of unacclimated men are peculiarly subject in warm latitudes as cannot fail to command the attention of a Paternal Government anxious to protect the health and lives of the tens of thousands of brave and patriotic citizens who have left and are daily leaving their homes, their families, and their business to fight in its defence

According to the testimony of eminent military men. of army surgeons of high standing in the profession, and thousands of private soldiers, RADWAY'S READY RELIEF has already been of immense benefit to the sick among our gallant volunteer soldiery in CAMP. IN THE BIVOUAC, AND ON THE MARCH.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1861.

GOVERNOR MORTON'S ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE OF INDIANA. - We call attention to this noble Address in our paper of to-day. Let the whole people of Kentucky, as well as the whole people of Indiana, read it. It is a strong and powerful appeal to our fellow-citizens of Indiana, who have already done so bearing in mind that only in Kentucky's safety

This call of the patriotic Morton upon the people of his State will endear him still more guardian-spirit from the very commencement of the dangers that now darkly threaten her very existence, and she knows it. Kentucky gratitude. Oh that all the public functionaalric as he.

GENERAL ROUSSEAU'S APPOINTMENT.-We announce with exceeding pleasure that Gen. Lovell H. Rousseau has been appointed Brigadier-General by the U. S. Government. We got up was that every State has a sacred right marshals began their career as privates. It is Governor for the safe-keeping and disbursement thank the Government, and we congratulate Kentucky and the army of defence. The chivalry of our State never bore a nobler flower than Gen. Rousseau. We have known Lovell H. Rousseau for more than twenty years, and we never knew a more gallant, generous, and knightly spirit. His heart is as tender as a woman's and braver than a lion's. His whole soul overflows with the truest and best feelings of humanity, but he will fearlessly bare his breast in the front of armed hosts to the fiercest lightnings that ever burst from the cloud of battle.

Louisville and Kentucky are under deep and lasting obligations to Gen. Rousseau, and they know it. He saw farther into the future than the rest of our fellow-citizens, and, fortunately for us all, he acted vigorously upon his foresight. If he had not, in spite of an opposition that would have discouraged almost any other man, raised those fine regiments at Camp Joe Holt, what, ere this, would have been the fate of Louisville? Who would there have been, in the hour of the late unexpected invasion, to march forward and interpose between her and the invading army?

A thousand cheers for Brigadier General

for the purpose of making arrangements to repass of Thermopylæ, a narrow defile in Northern Greece, and Leonidas, with a detachment of Spartans and other Peloponnesians, was sent forward to occupy the pass. The body of the Grecian force, however, did not follow Leonidas and his men. On the contrary the Greeks in general remained at home to attend the Olympic festival and the festival of the Carnean Apollo, persuaded, notwithstanding the foot of the invader was already upon the soil of Greece, that it would be time enough to go to the relief and reinweeks distant the approaching games should be over. They stayed at home, not, indeed, to protect their families, they had too much military sense for that, but to amuse themselves. Meanwhile, Xerxes, at the head of one of the largest armies ever assembled on this globe, came up to Thermopylæ, and attacked Leonidas; who, repulsing the flower of the Persian army with a havoc that caused Xerxes to leap in rage out of the throne from which he now heard of the important bill mentioned by ner, the self-constituted Dictator of our State, for the space of two mortal days, when, cret mountain path that led to the rear of Le- ating a revolution in Kentucky and carrying onidas, the Persians surrounded the hero and her into the Southern Confederacy. We may his band, and cut them to pieces, leaving be assured that the operation of that secret bill Greece to expiate at Salamis and Platæa the involves the employment of an immense Conguard to a fate that was almost as unnecessary and bootless in a military view as it is morally imperishable. Such is Thermopylæ.

Do we want a Thermopylæ in Kentucky? God forbid! and yet one seems all but impending. The Legislature, deliberating not unlike the Isthmian Congress of old on the means of of the adoption of immediate and energetic resisting the invader, has resolved that the invader shall be expelled, and Leonidas, with the start of us and thereby accomplishing their his band of heroes, has gone forward to his post; but, though the invading legions are drawn up in battle array and in overpowering ly might as well not be done at all. strength before this devoted phalanx, a portion of our people, neglecting their vanguard as the Greeks neglected theirs when the myriads of danger, and our safety their safety. They seem Xerxes hung above it like a thunder-cloud, are as inactive and supine as if the shadow of danger had not crossed their minds or had crossed only to paralyze and stupefy them. How long shall this suicidal apathy endure? Shall it last until our brave defenders on the railway and in the soul and body, our Kentuckians are rallying mountains, like their deathless prototypes at Thermopylæ, shall be overwhelmed and cut to pieces, and the invader, flushed with a sanguinary victory, takes up his unobstructed march for the Capital? or shall it give way at once to such energy and ardor as will enable our Spartan heroes to beat back and beat down the invader and sweep him ignominiously rom our soil? In a word, shall we have a Thermopylæ in Kentucky or a Marathon?

Of one thing let us rest assured. If we hazard the former, the glory will belong exclusively to the heroes who fall, whilst the shame alone will belong to Kentucky. Our Thermopylæ, if we should ignobly risk one, could shed no lustre on the Commonwealth though it would shed disgrace, and might draw down destruction. Future history, more sternly just than the history of the past, will adjudge that the fame of men who die vainly yet nobly for their country, great and undying as such fame may be, is not greater and more undying than the infamy of the country which voluntarily permits its defenders so to die. In the eye of Christian civilization, the heroism of a Thermopylæ, sunbright as it is, can have no charm to gild the enormous dereliction that calls for or suffers the display. The Louisville Journal and Democrat, for several days past, have moderated their tone of vio-lence. It is a good indication and has a signifi-cant meaning.—Frankfort Yeoman.

We can't accept the Yeoman's praise in this case. We are aware of no change in our tone. We have not been violent, but we have been but of that fact we have no official cognizance. The people themselves must make that appear by a change of their agents. While our authorities are privileged to treat the conduct of the State as either warlike or pacific, it might not be a bad stroke of policy to regard it in the latter aspect, and leave the fate of the State in its own hands.

The Richmond Whig says truly that the esolutions of the Kentucky Legislature, re-State, and the proclamation of the Governor issued in pursuance of those resolutions, make the requirement the action of the State to all much for Kentucky, to come to her rescue in intents and purposes. Kentucky has acted in this great exigency with their entire strength, this matter as a State—acted in her sovereign deeply to the people of Kentucky who already State sovereignty, should respect the action of gence and promptness in the camp, and supeappreciate the great obligation they are under Kentucky, promptly withdraw the Southern rior gallantry in the field, without attracting to him. He has been emphatically Kentucky's forces stationed upon her soil, and leave her the notice of his superiors. Promotion is ficulties they have. The Richmond organ thinks, that, although the very principle upon which the Southern Confederacy is based requires that Kentucky should be left free to keep the position which as a State she has chosen, and although it might be best for the Confederate Government erce her, to annex her, to make her a conquered State or a subjugated province. And

The Nashville Banner states that the Confederate Congress, at its late session, passed an important bill, on the secret calendar, to aid in bringing about the independence of Kentucky on terms analogous to those offered to Missouri. The Con-federate forces now in Southwestern Kentucky amount to twelve or lifteen thousand. Several amount to twelve or inteen thousand. Several regiments, as we are informed, of Confederate troops, have crossed over into Kentucky this week from East Tennessee. One of these, under the command of Col. Cumming, had advanced from Cumberland Gap, and made a stand at Cumberland Ford, some fifteen or twenty miles from the State line. We fear, that this fall is taked. the State line. RAIN.

The Regiment under Col. Curran Pope has now been in camp two weeks, and they still require nearly four hundred men to complete their organization. Special appeals to the chivalry and patriotism of the young men of Louisville, Jefferson, and the adjoining counties have been made. Every inducement in the way of comfortable quarters, full rations, the direction of Paducah. He also reports baythorough camp equipments, and immediate service, has been offered, and still the work 1,000 horses-supposed to be rebel cavalrygoes on slowly. Officered by men in whose experience and competence all have the most im plicit confidence, being nearer full than any other Regiment, and having a better chance for speedy occupation in the field, it is strange that its ranks are not more rapidly filled. If patriotism, State-pride, love of country, and all the influences that urge men to gallant and glorious deeds, are insufficient to wake them from the deadly torpor in which they seem to sleep, let personal safety and self-protection drive them to action. The people do not seem to understand their peril. They do not comprehend that unless the hostile forces are driven from our soil before winter sets in, and field by which they wounded two. The force which operations are closed, the whole Confederate army will winter on us. Must this be permitted? Is our substance to be exhausted-our barns pillaged-our property destroyed-our safety periled-our wives and daughters threatened by a brutal soldiery, and we refuse to labor and fight for their protection? Let every able-bodied man who loves his family, or his home, join this Regiment or some other and start in the field. If he cannot go himself, let him persuade or induce some young man to being dark. As soon as Lieut. Sheets heard the go in his place. We understand that not tramp of the rebels strike the bridge he ordered twenty recruits from the Home Guard of this his men to fire on them, upon which, after delivcity are in this camp. The young men of the ering their fire, they broke and fled, leaving 2 Home Guard alone should fill it in three days.

His residence and office are constantly thronged with applicants of this kind, and he is compelled to help them with his private funds. These are drafts of a more enerous character than should be indicted upon any citizen. We think that no one should assist in swelling these floods which sweep towards the Mayor, and we hope that the City Council will make some effort to aid these cases of distress that are properly objects for aid.

MOVEMENTS OF KENTUCKY REPLES—We learn from the Nashville Union and Amarican of Monday that Col. Jack Allen, Major J. A. Penton, and Captain John D. RELEASE OF CAPT. ARCHER.—It will be re membered that Capt. J. B. Archer, of the steamer Commercial, was arrested on Friday last, on the charge of carrying contraband goods. He was at the time admitted to bail in $5,000 for his appearance before the United States Court in this city. The accused appeared yesterday, demanded an examination, and was honorably acquitted, not even the shadow a charge being sustained against him.

GASLIGHTS AND WATER WORKS .- Whilst all the members of our community are struggling for a mere subsistence, is it right and proper that they should be taxed for Water and Gas as high as they were in good times? Ought not the Gas and Water-Works Companies to accommodate themselves, as all others have to do, to the sadly altered circumstances of the country? The time, fellow-citizens, has come, when even the unpatriotic and the selfish should hasten to the unpatriotic and the selfish should hasten to take up arms for the common defence of their State and country. Every consideration of enlightened self-interest calls us to the field.
